Rica,

Can you respond to the issues raised below? I know we talked and identified some electrical constraints that might not make this a viable option. Please fill us in so we can figure out if we should continue pursuing this idea.

Mike

Hi Mike,

Yes. Attached are the completed surveys that I've received.

I did some additional research on the custom containers (the photo I sent you) and they don't come like that. They would be plain and would not look like the photo. I've also done research with some other companies to see if there were other options. However, most of those were only wholesalers (sales only) or rentals of office or classrooms.

I've met with Rica and have identified a possible location, but she asked me to identify how much power they would need as the power supply in that location is limited. The company stated that they only supply the plugs and the actual amount of power used would be dependent on what gets plugged in. (perhaps we could implement a LED only policy) I'm not sure if your engineers would like that answer.

Rica took measurements of the area. I'm not sure how many 20' x 8' foot containers would fit into the area.

The other issue to overcome is relating to permitting. I have a call into David Roberts to see if he can help with this. Plus, all those people in the room all said they were there to help. I think I would rather start with David. I think the City Council office should take the lead on that part.

One other option that I am pursuing is the concept of Steel Craft.
<https://www.steelcraftlb.com/> I just set up a meeting with them on July 31st at 1:00pm. I'm going to take them to Eric's empty lot on 6th and Pacific Ave. first, but I don't know if that location will meet their parking requirements. Let me know if you like this idea and if you would like to join us.

I didn't want to circle back with the POC tenants until I had a viable alternative to offer them. Additionally, I'm not sure if any of this would work without a strong food element.

Let me know what you think.

Lorena,

Have you received any questionnaires back from any of the POC village tenants?

Mike,

Can we meet out there sometime soon? What is your availability?
Could we also determine at that time if a power source will be available? That might determine the exact location.

If we can make this work, I could reach out to the POC group to see if they like the idea.

Lorena,

This looks like a cool idea. The issue will be how many and how do we decide who as their will be less containers then can accommodate all the tenants.

I think trying this as 2 -4 units at the two locations could work as a test case, but that will not work for all of these tenants.

We should talk through this idea and get more specific on location.

I think it's a neat idea. I need to defer to Mike on it, but I like it and would support it.

Arley,

Perhaps across the Battleship Iowa or closer towards the Maritime. I think it would be better not to go near the constructions.

I would market it as Ports O' Call Village. (We're just moving the village over.) We would need power and port a potties. If we hang lights across the boardwalk it could be pretty cool! We could also have some type of music and bring in some food trucks on the weekends. I think that would really activate the waterfront.

Hi Lorena

In the POC area or closer to downtown harbor?

Mike/Arley,

Would you consider letting me having these trade show containers along the boardwalk for the POC tenants? I could treat them like a kiosk.

I have another idea I found.

You can rent a trade show container (see attached image) for $145/month, 2 month minimum.
